If you are wanting to catch their eye the minute she walks in, this genetic combination is probably the show stopper of the group. Lyssy's new Stand Alone sire back on EMS Miss Texas is probably one of the strongest phenotype style and class matings available in the breed. Super level hips, cocky clean fronts, ample power and rib shape all come together in this lot. Again, with Stand Alone you get the high EPD values as well, which will be important on a potential donor female or herd sire coming from this embryo mating. Here is your fast track to the top of the class, don't miss the train!
